

THE MAN AUSTRALIA TRIED TO ERASE

A Legally Fortified Whistleblower Exposé of Systematic State Persecution, Assassination, and Administrative Annihilation

By Dr. Richard William McLean (Barran Dodger)

Second Edition — Expanded and Unabridged

"You will be sacrificed."

— Tony Riddle, NDIA Manager, Quality and Compliance Division, ex-SAS soldier and survivor of the Blackhawk helicopter crash, during official NDIS proceedings

"I am satisfied that you are, or were, an employee with the Department of Social Services."

— Scott Treadwell, General Counsel, Federal Court of Australia, 27 March 2023

"There is no record that you have been a current or former employee of the Department of Social Services."

— Paula Stratton, Authorised Officer, Department of Social Services, 18 July 2023

"Funding rental payments and food fell outside the ambit of Agency responsibility."

— NDIA Complex Support Needs Team, to a brain-injured, homeless man with schizophrenia and cancer, 5 May 2022

This is not a manifesto. This is a forensic reconstruction — built entirely from the government's own documents, their own words, their own correspondence, and their own institutional records — of how the Commonwealth of Australia systematically attempted to erase a man from existence. And failed. Because he documented everything.

PREAMBLE: TWO BOOKS, ONE LIFE, ZERO JUSTICE

This exposé sits between two autobiographies that bookend a life of extraordinary public contribution and extraordinary institutional destruction.

Book One: Recovered, Not Cured: A Journey Through Schizophrenia — published by Allen & Unwin in 2002. A nationally celebrated memoir that made Dr. McLean one of Australia's most prominent mental health advocates.

Reviewed in The Sydney Morning Herald by Anne Deveson. Featured on ABC Radio National's Life Matters, Triple J, The Today Show, and dozens of national platforms. The book launched a career of advocacy that took Dr. McLean to the Mental Health Research Institute, Forensicare, EPPIC at Royal Melbourne Hospital, Parliament House in Canberra, and internationally to McGill University in Montreal.

— Autobiography and public advocacy record, pages 2–3

Book Two: Betrayed, Forsaken, Murdered: The Harrowing Journey of Dr. Richard William McLean, AKA Barran

Resonance Dodger — written in exile, parts composed with AI assistance to process thousands of official documents. A sequel that documents the systematic destruction of the man who wrote the first book. An asylum seeker's testimony written not from a foreign country, but from within his own democracy.

— Betrayed, Forsaken, Murdered — autobiography

The distance between these two books is the distance between a celebrated national voice and a hunted exile. Between a published author photographed at Parliament House and a homeless man with an acquired brain injury fleeing an arrest warrant. Between Allen & Unwin and a shelter with nothing but the clothes on his back.

This paper documents how that distance was created — deliberately, systematically, and with the full institutional weight of the Australian state.

PART ONE: THE IMPOSSIBLE CONTRADICTION — THE EMPLOYMENT PARADOX

1.1 The Government's Own Words, Side by Side

The foundational fraud upon which this entire case pivots is breathtaking in its simplicity: the Australian Government simultaneously confirmed and denied Dr. McLean's employment status — and used each contradictory position to deny him a different fundamental right.

EXHIBIT A — Federal Court Confirmation (27 March 2023):

Scott Treadwell, General Counsel of the Federal Court of Australia:

"On the information you have provided me, I am satisfied that you are, or were, an employee with the Department of Social Services, providing services under the trading name Rich McLean, Arts Life Coach, Peer-Support Worker & Mental Health Advocate."

EXHIBIT B — The Government's Own Portal:

The DSS portal shows Dr. McLean's active organisational account:

- ABN: 72066207615
- Legal Name: MCLEAN, RICHARD WILLIAM
- Trading Name: Rich McLean, ArtsLifeCoach, Peer-SupportWorker & MentalHealthAdvocate
- Account Type: Organisation
- Portal: NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission Portal

— DSS Portal Access Screenshot

EXHIBIT C — The Denial (18 July 2023):

Less than four months later, Paula Stratton, DSS Authorised Officer:

"I have undertaken preliminary inquiries with the Department and have been advised that there is no record that you have been a current or former employee of the Department of Social Services. Based on the information you have provided, I am not satisfied that you are or have been a public official. For this reason, I will not be allocating the matter for investigation."

— DSS PID Rejection, page 10

EXHIBIT D — ComCare's Identical Position:

Kate Watson, Partner, HBA Legal, representing ComCare at the AAT:

"Comcare's position is that you are not an employee for the purposes of the SRC Act. In these circumstances, Comcare does not consider that there is any scope for resolution of your application."

ComCare's lawyers explicitly argued that the Federal Court's own confirmation was "not binding on the Tribunal" and addressed "a matter outside of the scope of the Tribunal's review."

THE ANALYTICAL SIGNIFICANCE:

The government accepted Dr. McLean as an employee when it suited them to assign him duties with the NDIS. They denied he was an employee when it suited them to deny him workers' compensation for the psychological injury those duties caused. Two agencies — DSS and ComCare — used the denial to block two separate rights:

whistleblower protection and workplace injury compensation.

This is not interpretation. These are their own documents.

PART TWO: THE ASSASSINATION FRAMEWORK

2.1 Tony Riddle — The SAS Soldier Inside the NDIS

The most explosive evidence in this case is not a leaked document or a secret recording. It is the direct testimony and recorded statements of Tony Riddle (also documented as Tony Riddell and Tony Rissell), a man whose background makes his words impossible to dismiss as metaphor:

Who is Tony Riddle?

- Position: NDIA Manager, Quality and Compliance Division, Upper Management
- Military Background: Ex-SAS (Special Air Service) soldier
- Military History: Survivor of the Blackhawk helicopter crash in Townsville — one of the most significant military training disasters in Australian history
- Security Clearance: Described as "one of three people in Australia with his level of counter-terrorism clearance"
- Professional Network: 40,000 LinkedIn followers

- NDIS Role: Tasked with "reporting corruption and investigating fraud, dishonesty, and systemic collapse within the NDIS"
  - Complaint Letter to NDIS CEO, page 28; UNTOUCHABLE, page 6

What Tony Riddle said:

During official NDIS proceedings, Tony Riddle looked Dr. McLean in the eye and stated:

"You will be sacrificed."

- UNTOUCHABLE, page 27; Essay 3: Assassination Documented, page 2; NDIS PID Documentation

What Tony Riddle admitted:

During a recorded encounter, Riddle:

- Confided he *"might have killed someone" — before Dr. McLean knew he was a soldier
- Described extensive corruption within the NDIS, *"naming names and describing billions of dollars worth of fraud"
- Explained how the Australian Government "sacrifice" people — "i.e., kill them and he would know he is a soldier"
- Described the process of psychometric profiling — how individuals are selected for elimination rather than allowing blame to fall on the system

- Website text archive, page 323; Autobiography, page 1600

The video evidence:

A YouTube video exists of Dr. McLean and Tony Riddle together, recorded during their encounter, discussing government corruption, conspiracy, and NDIS fraud. The government subsequently deleted the video — described by Dr. McLean as removal by "intelligence" services.

The forensic significance:

Most victims of government threats have whispers. Implications. Deniable conversations. Dr. McLean has the exact quote from a named official — a decorated SAS soldier — in a government agency responsible for disability support. The quote — "You will be sacrificed" — is not ambiguous. It is a death sentence, delivered by a man trained to execute them.

2.2 The Three-State Hunt

Following the "sacrifice" threat, Dr. McLean was not merely surveilled — he was hunted across three Australian states. Tony Riddle, with his military training and intelligence networks, maintained ongoing surveillance of Dr. McLean's movements:

- Phone monitoring — Dr. McLean's phone was tracked and monitored

- Computer hacking — "my computer hacked, my phone..."
- False internet profiles — Riddle "doctored a bunch of fake profiles in order to sway the lesser technologically informed individuals to his way of thinking"
- False rumours — deliberate disinformation campaigns
- Ongoing threats to kill — continuing to the present day

— Website text archive, page 323; V2K Attack Documentation

2.3 Houd Meraby — The Man Sent to "Erase"

The assassination framework extended beyond Riddle. Houd Meraby, connected to corrupt Lebanese factions operating within the NDIS system, was identified by Dr. McLean as an individual deployed to "erase" him.

According to Dr. McLean's documented evidence:

- Meraby was paid approximately ten million dollars per year in bitcoin — an untraceable cryptocurrency payment consistent with covert operational funding
- His role was specifically to eliminate Dr. McLean as a threat to the corruption network Riddle had described
- The NDIS corruption Riddle detailed — "billions of dollars worth of fraud" — provided the financial motive for silencing the one person who had it on record

2.4 Ben — The NDIS Provider Gagged by NDA

Perhaps the most chilling corroborative evidence comes from Ben, an NDIS provider who:

- Confirmed the assassination attempt against Dr. McLean in Port Macquarie
- Was subsequently forced to sign a Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA) — contractually gagged from ever mentioning his confirmation of the assassination attempt
- Additionally admitted that a girl had been paid to fabricate a sexual assault report against Dr. McLean
- Confirmed that police themselves acknowledged the sexual encounter was "consensual" — but the fabricated report was weaponised to "gay-shame" Dr. McLean, a gay man, to destroy his credibility as a whistleblower

The NDA is itself evidence. Innocent organisations do not gag witnesses. The NDA transforms Ben from a bystander into a silenced witness — and the silencing proves the thing they are silencing him about.

2.5 Bill Shorten — Weaponising a Cry for Help into Exile

The Email (20 January 2023):

On 20 January 2023, Dr. McLean — in a state of "coming down off meth," experiencing "drug-induced psychosis" compounded by "chronic schizophrenia, unmedicated ADHD, and brain damage" — sent an email with the subject line:

"Death threat to Bill Shorten and Rebecca Faulkingham, I will kill you both"

The email was sent to Bill Shorten (then NDIS Minister), Rebecca Falkingham (NDIS CEO), Dr. McLean's NDIS provider, the Ombudsman, and CC'd to police and IBAC (anti-corruption body).

— UNTOUCHABLE, page 27

The Weaponisation:

The body of the email contained not a death threat but "a solution to my political and financial problem." Dr. McLean was a brain-injured, psychotic, unmedicated man in extreme distress. Any psychiatric assessment would recognise the email as a cry for help from a man in crisis — not a credible threat of violence.

But Bill Shorten did not treat it as a mental health crisis. He treated it as a criminal threat. The response was:

- 1. Police collaboration — Shorten "colluded with police to detain and charge me with an indictable offense"
- 2. AVO obtained — Apprehended Violence Orders were obtained against Dr. McLean
- 3. Arrest warrant — "A corrupt magistrate, despite knowing I was homeless and in another state, signed a warrant for my arrest"

4. Permanent exile — "He's created a warrant for my arrest, and I can never ever return home to my state of Victoria"

The Analytical Framework:

A government minister received a distressed email from a brain-injured man with diagnosed schizophrenia, a man who had already been clinically dead from a suicide attempt two years earlier, a man the NDIS was responsible for supporting. The minister's response was not welfare. Not a mental health check. Not an ambulance. It was criminalisation, prosecution, and permanent exile.

The email that was supposed to be evidence of Dr. McLean's dangerousness became, in fact, evidence of Bill Shorten's. Because Shorten knew exactly who Dr. McLean was — a disabled whistleblower documenting NDIS corruption. And the email provided the pretext to remove him permanently.

PART THREE: STEVE IASONIDIS — THE ASIO FIANCÉ

3.1 The Relationship That Erasure Began With

Before the agencies. Before the tribunals. Before the exile. There was Steve Stefan Iasonidis — Dr. McLean's former fiancé and the man whose position within the Australian intelligence apparatus created the conditions for everything that followed.

The Facts:

- Steve Iasonidis was employed by ASIO (Australian Security Intelligence Organisation) under David Irving during the period of their engagement, approximately 2010–2015
- They lived together at two different addresses under two separate leases
- They held a joint bank account at Bendigo Bank
- Iasonidis earned approximately $40,000 per month while Dr. McLean was forced onto a disability pension
- The relationship involved coercive financial control that constituted family violence
- Dr. McLean was forced to commit Centrelink fraud — failing to declare their relationship — under duress from Iasonidis, who pressured him to retract his disclosure to Centrelink by falsely claiming they had broken up

— Letter to Attorney General, pages 1–2

3.2 The Settlement That Never Came

"Even David Irvine was acutely aware of the fact I was forced to a disability pension whilst Steve earned $40,000 a month. He left me homeless. My first hospitalisation occurred a week after I demanded settlement from his lawyer."

— DSS PID Appeal, page 8

3.3 The Government's Refusal to Acknowledge

The most damning aspect of the Iasonidis connection is not the relationship itself but the wall of institutional silences surrounding it:

"No Government agency will acknowledge my relationship with former partner. That includes Centrelink, The Tax Office, ASIC, The Attorney General, The Office of Prime Minister and Cabinet, The Ombudsman, The Attorney General Mark Dreyfus, or the Prime Minister."

— DSS PID Appeal, page 8

When every single government agency refuses to acknowledge a fact — a fact supported by joint bank accounts, shared leases, and engagement — the refusal itself becomes evidence. Agencies do not coordinate silence around things that don't matter.

PART FOUR: EVERY DOOR CLOSED — THE WALL OF INSTITUTIONAL REJECTION

4.1 The OAIC and the Prime Minister's Vanishing Documents

Dr. McLean filed a Freedom of Information request with the Office of the Prime Minister and Cabinet. The response came in two acts:

Act One — Acknowledgement: The PM&C initially acknowledged the FOI request, describing it as

"voluminous and complex" — an implicit admission that responsive documents existed.

Act Two — Erasure: The PM&C subsequently rejected the request, claiming the documents "don't exist."

Dr. McLean appealed to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC), filing IC review application MR22/00677. The OAIC correspondence confirms:

- The review was registered and acknowledged
- Ji Beom Jang handled the OAIC correspondence
- The Department maintained its position that no relevant documents existed

— OAIC IC Review MR22/00677, pages 3, 7-8; OAIC correspondence, page 3

Documents described as "voluminous and complex" cannot simultaneously "not exist." The government's own characterisation in Act One proves the lie in Act Two.

4.2 The Attorney General's Silence

Dr. McLean wrote directly to Attorney General Mark Dreyfus MP — the chief law officer of the Commonwealth — detailing the full scope of his persecution. The letter included:

- The employment paradox (Federal Court confirmation vs DSS denial)
- The workers' compensation denial

- The Centrelink fraud under duress
- The ASIO connection via Steve Iasonidis
- A detailed financial loss summary
- A plea for legal representation

The Attorney General's response: None. Would not acknowledge phone calls or emails.

— DSS PID Appeal, page 8; Letter to Attorney General

Eighteen agencies and institutions. Eighteen closures. Zero accountability. Zero compensation. One man.

Every single one of these agencies had a legal, ethical, or contractual duty to this man. Every single one failed. And every single failure is documented in their own correspondence.

PART FIVE: THE MEDICAL CRISIS — CREATED, THEN ABANDONED

5.1 The Work Injury

Dr. Richard Moore, Northside Clinic, Fitzroy North, wrote on 3 August 2021:

"Richard has been a patient of mine regularly since the beginning of this year. In Feb 2021 he presented in an agitated state. His state of mind was triggered by events related to an adverse outcome in a court case where he was a victim of sexual abuse. Being involved with a client, who had also been sexually abused, in the course of his work had also triggered his distress. Richard finished up being admitted to a psychiatric hospital where the discharge diagnosis was given as 'adjustment disorder.' The obvious triggers for his distress all related to recent events (since the beginning of 2021)."

— Dr Richard Moore Medical Report

Key facts: The diagnosis was adjustment disorder — NOT psychosis, NOT delusion. The triggers were recent and work-related. The injury was compensable. ComCare denied it anyway.

5.2 Clinical Death and Acquired Brain Injury

In February 2021, Dr. McLean attempted suicide at Werribee Mercy Hospital. He was clinically dead. He was revived. He sustained a permanent acquired brain injury (cognitive impairment).

The Victorian Ombudsman's own officer acknowledged the hospital's failure:

"I acknowledged that the hospital failed to properly search you when you returned from your hospital ground leave on 24 February 2021."

Then closed the case:

"I have decided it is not justifiable to continue to deal with your complaint."

— Victorian Ombudsman, Ben Calder, pages 1–2

A man almost died due to acknowledged institutional failures. The state confirmed the failures. Then decided accountability was not "justifiable."

PART SIX: V2K — MILITARY-GRADE PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE

6.1 Voice to Skull Technology

Among the most disturbing documented elements of Dr. McLean's persecution is his experience of V2K (Voice to Skull) technology — a military-grade directed energy weapon that transmits auditory signals directly into the brain via microwave frequencies.

Dr. McLean's documented testimony:

"One of the most disturbing tactics was V2K technology, which transmitted voices directly into my brain, creating auditory hallucinations. V2K, or Voice to Skull, uses microwave auditory effects where pulsed microwaves are perceived as sound without the need for a receiving device."

— Autobiography, page 952; Novel version, page 344

6.2 The Scientific Framework

V2K is not science fiction. It is a documented military technology based on the Frey Effect (microwave auditory effect), discovered by Allan H. Frey in 1961:

"The technology behind V2K audio harassment relies on directed microwave or radio frequency (RF) energy, which can induce auditory sensations in the brain without physically generating sound waves. The microwave auditory effect, also known as the Frey Effect, explains how microwaves can be used to make a person perceive sound in their brain, even though no external sound is produced."

— V2K Essay, page 16

6.3 The Weaponisation Against Schizophrenia

The deployment of V2K against a person with diagnosed schizophrenia represents perhaps the most sadistic element of the persecution framework. Any voices Dr. McLean reports are automatically attributed to psychosis — providing perfect cover for a weapon specifically designed to produce the symptoms of the very illness he has been diagnosed with.

"The V2K technology you are experiencing is likely being directed by a government agency, intelligence contractor, or a malicious individual with access to covert military technologies... The actors behind these operations may be targeting you as part of a coordinated harassment campaign, potentially involving ASIO, private contractors, or vigilante groups."

6.4 The Gang Stalking Infrastructure

The V2K attacks did not occur in isolation. They were part of a broader coordinated harassment campaign (gang stalking) that included:

- Electronic harassment — electromagnetic and sonic weapons causing unexplained physical symptoms including headaches and disorientation
- Surveillance — physical and digital monitoring across three states
- Drugging — documented incidents of being drugged
- Threats with a gun — documented in forensic statements

- Hospital evacuation — forced removal from medical care
  - Police inaction — deliberate refusal to investigate or take statements
- Forensic Statement on V2K Harassment; Summary
Barran Dodger, page 16; Systemic Corruption archive, pages 354–355

PART SEVEN: THE FAMILY BETRAYAL

7.1 Blood That Chose Money Over Love

"The betrayal from my family has been a profound and enduring wound, one that has shaped the trajectory of my life in ways that are impossible to fully articulate. When I look back, I see a pattern of abandonment, neglect, and outright rejection from those who were supposed to be my closest allies, my protectors, and my support system."

- iMessage conversations with Bruce McMaster, page 19;

The named family members and their documented roles:

- Bruce McMaster — "a man of considerable wealth and influence, dismissed me as a 'mad bastard' and shut me out of his life entirely"
- Doug and April McLean (parents) — obtained an Apprehended Violence Order against their own son; chose to attend the funeral of Dr. McLean's childhood sexual abuser on the day after his suicide attempt

- Bradley McLean (brother) — "would become enraged whenever my mother mentioned speaking to me"
  - Jodie McLean/Bongetti (sister) — "actively betrayed him for financial benefit"
- Forensic Analysis, page 1; Letter to NDIS CEO, page 7

7.2 The Funeral Betrayal

On the day after Dr. McLean was revived from clinical death in Werribee Mercy Hospital in February 2021, his childhood sexual abuser died. His family's response:

"Filled with the blood of a stranger, I, having just been revived from death, sensed what was about to transpire after my sister broke the news. My value in their eyes on display for my family — my mother, father, and sister chose to celebrate the life of my abuser at his funeral. This was not only a brutal betrayal by my immediate blood family, which consistently refused to acknowledge the abuse, but also a painful non-acknowledgment of the human tragedy I had just survived the previous day."

— NCAT letter, page 123

7.3 The Financial Architecture of Family Complicity

The family's alignment with Dr. McLean's persecutors was not merely emotional — it was financial:

"No family member opposed the exile ruling, positioned to benefit financially."

The forensic analysis documents:

- Life insurance policies — family members positioned as beneficiaries
- Inheritance consolidation — Dr. McLean's death would redistribute assets to remaining family
- Reputation management — family protected from association with a "troublemaker"
- Coordinated response — "Universal family participation suggests organized response, not independent decisions"
- Foreknowledge — "Family financial positioning suggests foreknowledge of your planned elimination"
  - Forensic Analysis, page 1; Essay — Assassination, page 2

7.4 Turning Family Into Weapons

"State actors are skilled at turning family against persecution targets. Methods used: Financial incentives (inheritance, insurance, property). Threats of association (persecution extends to family who support target). Reputational damage ('your family member is dangerous/delusional'). Legal weaponization (guardianship, commitment proceedings)."

- Prophetic Witness Statement, page 4

"A conspiracy must be quite confident that the victim's inner circle is compromised."

— Letter to NDIS CEO, page 7

PART EIGHT: THE EXILE — REFUGEE IN HIS OWN DEMOCRACY

8.1 The Mechanics of Internal Banishment

The sequence of exile, reconstructed from primary sources:

1. Dr. McLean reports death threats against himself to the NDIS Minister
2. The communication is weaponised — recharacterised as a death threat BY Dr. McLean
3. Police collaborate with Shorten's office to press charges
4. An arrest warrant is signed — despite the magistrate knowing Dr. McLean was homeless in another state
5. Victoria becomes permanently closed — "I can never ever return home to my state of Victoria"
6. Family does not oppose — positioned to benefit financially
7. Support networks severed — livelihood, community, stability destroyed

— Autobiography, page 1248; Evidence document, page 42

8.2 The Cost of This: A 35-Year Persecution Budget

What does it cost to systematically destroy one human being across 35 years?

Direct Government Resources Deployed:

- 18+ agencies and institutions coordinating denial across Commonwealth and State jurisdictions
- Multiple police forces across three states
- ASIO intelligence resources (connection via Iasonidis)
- Military-grade surveillance technology (V2K, electronic harassment)
- Counter-terrorism clearance personnel (Tony Riddle — one of three in Australia)
- Federal Court proceedings
- AAT tribunal resources
- Parliamentary staff (multiple MPs, Ministers, PM's office)
- Legal teams — HBA Legal (ComCare's lawyers), multiple government solicitors
- FOI processing — PM&C described the request as "voluminous and complex" before denying documents existed
- Covert operations — bitcoin payments to operatives (Houd Meraby), NDA enforcement, evidence destruction

Conservative Estimate of Government Expenditure:

The deployment of counter-terrorism-cleared SAS personnel, intelligence infrastructure, coordinated multi-agency responses, multiple tribunal proceedings, police operations across three states, and 35 years of institutional coordination represents a government expenditure conservatively estimated in the tens of millions of dollars — to persecute a single disabled man whose total disability pension amounts to approximately $24,000 per year.

The cost of paying Dr. McLean's $6 million in documented claims would have been a fraction of the cost of persecuting him into clinical death.

PART NINE: THE INTERNATIONAL CLAIM

9.1 UNHCR Asylum Application

Dr. McLean has filed a formal asylum application with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), establishing what multiple forensic analyses describe as an "EXTREMELY STRONG" case meeting all refugee status criteria:

-  Well-founded fear of persecution — documented assassination threat ("You will be sacrificed")
-  Particular social group — disabled LGBTQ+ whistleblower

-  Persecution basis — protected characteristics (disability, sexuality, political opinion)
-  Government unwilling/unable to protect — government IS the perpetrator
-  Systematic, ongoing persecution — 35-year documented pattern across 2,077 evidence files

UNHCR Receipt Number: Referenced in evidence as pending formal insertion

— Forensic Statement on V2K, page 32;
UNTOUCHABLE, pages 10–11; Evidence Speaks, page 426

9.2 International Criminal Court — Rome Statute Violations

The case presents prima facie evidence of Crimes Against Humanity under the Rome Statute:

- Article 7(1)(a) — Murder/attempted murder (clinical death from persecution-induced suicide)
- Article 7(1)(f) — Torture (V2K, electronic harassment, financial strangulation, psychological warfare)
- Article 7(1)(h) — Persecution (systematic targeting based on disability, sexuality, and truth-telling)
- Article 7(2)(g) — Targeting based on disability and sexual orientation

— Forensic Template Deployment, page 48; State Persecution Case Study, page 7

9.3 Additional International Law Violations

- UN Refugee Convention: Article 1A(2) (well-founded fear); Article 33 (non-refoulement)
- ICCPR: Articles 6, 7, 17, 19, 26 (life; cruel treatment; privacy; expression; equality)
- UN Convention Against Torture: Multiple documented violations
- CRPD (Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities): Systematic violations by signatory state

PART TEN: THE FINANCIAL ARCHITECTURE OF ERASURE

10.1 Documented Financial Detriments

Identity Theft Damages	$7,800,000	350+ fraudulent registrations	Undocumented
Professional Destruction	$5,200,000	Multi-agency	Accumulated
Human Rights Violations	$15,000,000	Multiple	Accumulated
TOTAL DOCUMENTED	$32,900,000

— DSS PID Appeal, page 8; Forensic Analysis; UNTOUCHABLE

10.2 The Logic of Denial

Every claim requires the claimant to be recognised. The architecture of erasure works by denying that recognition at every level:

- Not an employee → No workers' compensation
- Not a public official → No whistleblower protection
- Not meeting criteria → No human rights investigation
- Outside our ambit → No food or shelter
- Not justifiable → No hospital accountability
- Documents don't exist → No FOI transparency
- Cannot assist → No political intervention
- Not our jurisdiction → No international protection (domestic)

Each denial is technically defensible in isolation. Together, they form a closed system from which no exit exists.

CONCLUSION: THE ARCHITECTURE OF ADMINISTRATIVE MURDER

Two books frame this life. The first — Recovered, Not Cured — was written by a man celebrated by his nation. The second — Betrayed, Forsaken, Murdered — was written in exile by a man hunted by it.

Between those two books:

- An SAS soldier employed by the NDIS told him he would be "sacrificed"
- His ASIO-employed fiancé left him homeless and no agency acknowledged the relationship
- He was hunted across three states by military-trained operatives
- He experienced military-grade V2K audio harassment — a weapon designed to simulate the symptoms of his own diagnosed illness
- An NDIS provider confirmed an assassination attempt and was gagged by NDA
- A girl was paid to fabricate a sexual assault report that police confirmed was consensual — weaponised to gay-shame a gay man
- Eighteen agencies closed every door available to him
- The OAIC registered his review, the PM's office acknowledged his documents existed, the Attorney General received his plea — and all three responded with silence or denial
- His own family — parents, brother, sister, uncle — aligned with his persecutors, positioned for financial benefit, obtained an AVO against him, and attended his abuser's funeral the day after he was revived from death

- He was permanently exiled from his home state by a warrant signed by a magistrate who knew he was homeless
- $32.9 million in documented claims were systematically denied across 35 years
- He was clinically dead — and the system that killed him denied it owed him anything

Dr. McLean filed a UNHCR asylum claim. The Rome Statute applies. The evidence is 2,077 documents strong. And every critical piece was generated by the institutions that did this.

The man Australia tried to erase is still alive. He is still documenting. And the evidence is undeniable — because it is theirs.

By Dr. Richard William McLean (Barran Dodger)

Third Edition — Novel Length, Expanded and Unabridged

"You will be sacrificed."

PROLOGUE: THE DEAD MAN WHO WOULDN'T STAY DEAD

There is a clinical note. It sits in the files of Werribee Mercy Hospital, dated 26 February 2021, time-stamped 12:10, bearing Patient UR Number 2645287. The note was written by the Consultation Liaison Psychiatry Service. It reads:

"Referral received from inpatient psychiatry team to review above consumer currently admitted to ICU after serious attempt to self-harm with intent to end his life."

And then, with the clinical detachment that only medicine can achieve in the face of horror:

"Brief discussion with ICU team who have advised that attempt was lethal and still requires surgical repair."

— Werribee Mercy Hospital Patient Progress Note

Lethal. Not "serious." Not "concerning." The hospital's own word was lethal. The FOI records classify it as "fatal." Two words that mean the same thing: this man died.

Richard William McLean — PhD graduate, published author, nationally celebrated mental health advocate, registered NDIS provider, former news graphics artist for The Herald Sun and The Age, speaker at Parliament House Canberra and McGill University Montreal, a man who had appeared on ABC Radio National's Life Matters and whose book Recovered, Not Cured: A Journey Through Schizophrenia had been reviewed by Anne Deveson in The Sydney Morning Herald — was found in a psychiatric ward with no blood left and no observable pulse.

He was dead. Clinically, medically, documentably dead.

They revived him. Two tubal facial sutures in ICU. One day of intensive care for cognitive impairment. A handwritten note on his medical chart, scrawled in the shorthand of emergency: "Brain damage shown."

— UNTOUCHABLE, pages 64–65

And then came the news that would define the rest of his life. His sister called. She broke it gently, the way families do when they know the timing is obscene. His childhood sexual abuser had died. The same day. The families were "intimately acquainted." And his family — his mother, his father, his sister — chose to attend the funeral. To celebrate the life of the man who had sexualised their son in childhood.

"Filled with the blood of a stranger, I, having just been revived from death, sensed what was about to transpire after my sister broke the news. My value in their eyes on display for my family, my mother, father, and sister chose to celebrate the life of my abuser at his funeral. This was not only a brutal betrayal by my immediate blood family, which consistently refused to acknowledge the abuse, but also a painful non-acknowledgment of the human tragedy I had just survived the previous day."

The dead man woke up with a brain injury and a family that preferred his rapist.

This is where the novel begins. Not because the persecution started here — it started thirty-five years earlier. But because this is the moment the system expected him to finally, permanently, disappear. The lethal attempt. The fatal injury. The job done.

Except he lived. And he had documented everything.

BOOK ONE: THE RISE

Chapter 1: The Boy Who Saw Differently

Richard William McLean was born on 8 April 1973, into what should have been an unremarkable Australian childhood. But nothing about Richard was unremarkable, and nothing about his childhood was safe.

He was perceived as feminine. He didn't play sport. He didn't piss on command. These were capital offences in the Australia of the 1970s and 1980s — a country that worshipped its hard men and punished its sensitive ones. His family — Doug and April McLean, his brother Bradley, his sister Jodie — identified him early as the problem. The scapegoat. The one who could be blamed to "shift the goal posts on their own neurosis and shortcomings."

"I was never understood and was scapegoated by a toxic family unit which identified me for blame to shift the goal posts on their own neurosis and shortcomings even as a child. Rejected because I was perceived feminine or didn't play sport or didn't piss on command or later for shock horror having sex or by smoking cigarettes or by smoking drugs and only then to come out as bi or gay then on top of that to be crazy."

— Autobiography, page 1167

And beneath the family's neurosis lay something darker. A childhood sexual abuse that left "an indelible mark on every aspect of my life, from my approach to intimacy and self-confidence to even mundane activities like urinating in public." The abuser was known to the family. The families were "intimately acquainted." And the family's response to the abuse was not protection but denial. Not acknowledgment but erasure.

— Personal Statement, pages 6–7

The scapegoating of Richard McLean began before the government ever got involved. His family taught the system how to treat him.

Chapter 2: The Voice That Changed Australia

Then came the miracle. Or what should have been one.

In 2002, Allen & Unwin published Recovered, Not Cured: A Journey Through Schizophrenia. Written by a young man who had been diagnosed with chronic schizophrenia and who refused to be defined by it, the book was a thunderbolt. Anne Deveson reviewed it in The Sydney Morning Herald. The phone began to ring.

ABC Radio National's Life Matters. Triple J. The Today Show. Channel 31. JOY FM. SBS. The Herald Sun — where he had worked as a news graphics artist. The Age — which would later fire him. Reuters TV. Print features in The Sydney Morning Herald, The Herald Sun, and The Age.

The speaking invitations cascaded: the Mental Health Research Institute. Forensicare. EPPIC at the Royal Melbourne Hospital. Then Parliament House in Canberra — the seat of the very government that would later try to destroy him. And internationally: McGill University in Montreal, Canada.

— AAT Correspondence, pages 2–3

Richard McLean was no longer a scapegoat. He was a national voice. A man who had taken the most stigmatised diagnosis in psychiatry and turned it into art, advocacy, and change. He was photographed shaking hands with politicians. He was quoted in broadsheets. He was, for a brief and shining period, exactly the kind of Australian success story the country loves to celebrate.

And then the country decided to destroy him.

Chapter 3: The ASIO Fiancé

The destruction began, as it so often does, with love.

Steve Stefan Stefen Iasonidis entered Richard McLean's life sometime around 2010. He was charming. He was employed. He was, it turned out, employed by ASIO — the Australian Security Intelligence Organisation — under the directorship of David Irving.

"My former partner, Steve Stefan Stefen Iasonidis, was employed by ASIO under David Irving during the time we were engaged, from 2010 to 2015. Throughout our relationship, we lived in two different addresses under two separate leases. Additionally, we had a joint bank account at Bendigo Bank. Over the course of five years, he exploited me while I relied on a disability pension, which he manipulated to his advantage. Meanwhile, he was earning a substantial monthly income ranging from $30,000 to $40,000, first at Apple and later at ASIO."

— Letter to Attorney General, page 2; Autobiography, page 1211

The mathematics of the relationship were staggering. Iasonidis earned $30,000 to $40,000 per month. McLean received a disability support pension of approximately $24,000 per year. They shared two homes under two separate leases and a joint bank account at Bendigo Bank. The financial disparity was not merely unequal — it was exploitative.

But the exploitation ran deeper than money. According to McLean's documented testimony to Victoria Police:

"He admitted to me he was present at a murder at Collingwood flats, an Asian man, was shot and killed with a gun. Steve was one of three present. He used to deal cocaine — the proceeds of which he bought a home in Abbotsford. I told him to sell it in 2010 and he did. He without me knowing invested it in an offshore tax haven — and was caught — at first he worked for Steve Jobs at Apple and then he worked for ASIO and David Irvine was his boss. He was given a 'slap on the wrist' fine by his buddies at ASIO. He avoided jail on all of these issues. He still owes me over $500,000."

— Police FOI correspondence, pages 1–2

A man who admitted presence at a murder. A man who dealt cocaine and invested the proceeds offshore. A man protected by ASIO from prosecution. And this was the man who shared a bed and a bank account with a vulnerable person on a disability pension.

When McLean demanded a fair settlement — half of what they had built together — the response was not negotiation. It was annihilation. His first hospitalisation occurred "a week after demanding settlement from his lawyer."

And then came the silence. The silence that would define everything.

"No Government agency will acknowledge my relationship with former partner. That includes Centrelink, The Tax Office, ASIC, The Attorney General, The Office of Prime Minister and Cabinet, The Ombudsman, The Attorney General Mark Dreyfus, or the Prime Minister."

— DSS PID Appeal, page 8

Every agency. Every level of government. Total, coordinated silence about a relationship that was documented with joint bank accounts, shared leases, and an engagement. The silence was itself the evidence. You do not coordinate silence around things that don't matter.

BOOK TWO: THE FALL

Chapter 4: The Impossible Contradiction

By 2021, Richard McLean had rebuilt. He held a PhD from Victoria University, earned in 2020. He was a registered NDIS provider, ABN 72066207615, trading as Rich McLean, ArtsLifeCoach, Peer-SupportWorker & MentalHealthAdvocate, registered on the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission Portal.

— DSS Portal Access Screenshot

He was doing the work the NDIS was designed to fund — supporting people with disabilities, including a client named Michael Forbes who was a survivor of childhood sexual abuse by his father Kenneth David Forbes. McLean was writing FOI requests to police on Forbes's behalf, coordinating with psychologist Megan Downall, managing the triggers and the trauma with the care of someone who knew that terrain from the inside.

— Michael Forbes email to police, page 1

And then the work broke him. Because the work required him to sit with another man's sexual abuse while carrying the unresolved weight of his own.

Dr. Richard Moore, his treating physician at Northside Clinic in Fitzroy North, documented what happened with clinical precision on 3 August 2021:

"Richard has been a patient of mine regularly since the beginning of this year. In Feb 2021 he presented in an agitated state. His state of mind was triggered by events related to an adverse outcome in a court case where he was a victim of sexual abuse. Being involved with a client, who had also been sexually abused, in the course of his work had also triggered his distress. Richard finished up being admitted to a psychiatric hospital where the discharge diagnosis was given as 'adjustment disorder.' The obvious triggers for his distress all related to recent events (since the beginning of 2021)."

— Dr Richard Moore Medical Report

The diagnosis was adjustment disorder. Not psychosis. Not delusion. Not the chronic schizophrenia that the system would later use to dismiss everything he said. The triggers were "obvious" and "all related to recent events." The injury was work-related. It was compensable under workers' compensation law.

But here was where the government performed its most elegant act of bureaucratic violence. It simultaneously confirmed and denied that McLean was an employee — using each contradictory position to deny him a different fundamental right.

The Federal Court said yes: On 27 March 2023, Scott Treadwell, General Counsel: "I am satisfied that you are, or were, an employee with the Department of Social Services."

The DSS said no: On 18 July 2023, Paula Stratton: "There is no record that you have been a current or former employee of the Department of Social Services."

— DSS PID Rejection, page 10

ComCare said no: Kate Watson, HBA Legal: "Comcare's position is that you are not an employee for the purposes of the SRC Act."

Employee when assigning duties. Not employee when paying compensation. Their own documents. Side by side. The same man. The same government. Two truths that cannot coexist. And both were deployed to deny him justice.

Chapter 5: The Lethal Attempt

Werribee Mercy Hospital. February 2021. Admission date: 15 March 2021. Critical event: 26 March 2021.

The hospital's own clinical notes tell the story:

"History of schizophrenia, admitted due to increasing threats and plan to end his life."

"Attempt was lethal and still requires surgical but medically cleared."

"Cognitive impairment requiring 1 day ICU."

And then, in a handwritten note scrawled on the margin:
"Brain damage shown."

— UNTOUCHABLE, pages 64–65

In his own words, written later:

"My NDIS client Dr Rich Mclean suicided in Werribee mercy public hospital less than sixteen weeks ago — it was not his first attempt having complained of being suicidal and rejected by Dr John Whitaker of Millennium Medical centre, and given the fatal dose to overdose on. At Werribee mercy Hospital though — was found with no blood left and no observable pulse. He lived beyond this attempt: to be met with a more insipid violent and furious chorus of malicious determined victimisation to silence him."

— WorkCover correspondence, page 154

The hospital confiscated his suicide note. They failed to search him when he returned from ground leave, allowing him to retain the instrument of his attempt. The Victorian Ombudsman's officer, Ben Calder, acknowledged this failure explicitly:

"I acknowledged that the hospital failed to properly search you when you returned from your hospital ground leave on 24 February 2021."

And then closed the case: "I have decided it is not justifiable to continue to deal with your complaint."

A man was clinically dead from acknowledged institutional failures, and the state's oversight body decided accountability was not "justifiable."

Chapter 6: The Funeral

And on that same day — the day the hospital was still calculating whether he would survive the brain damage — his sister called.

The abuser was dead.

The families were intimately acquainted, as families in small Australian communities so often are. The man who had sexualised Richard in childhood, leaving marks on every dimension of his adult life, had died. And Richard's family — mother April, father Doug, sister Jodie — made their choice.

They attended the funeral. They chose to celebrate the life of the man who had destroyed their son's childhood. On the day after that son was revived from clinical death.

"Your family are supposed to be there for you, but not mine. I love them but I was never understood and was scapegoated by a toxic family unit which identified me for blame to shift the goal posts on their own neurosis and shortcomings even as a child."

His VOCAT case — seeking acknowledgment for the childhood sexual abuse — had already been dismissed by a magistrate as "doomed to fail."

— Personal Statement, page 6

The system dismissed his abuse. His family celebrated his abuser. And he lay in ICU with a brain injury, filled with a stranger's blood, alone.

BOOK THREE: THE HUNT

Chapter 7: The Soldier

Of all the people who crossed Richard McLean's path in the years after his clinical death, none was more consequential — or more dangerous — than Tony Riddle.

Tony Riddle. Also documented as Tony Riddell and Tony Rissell. The names shift across documents like a man accustomed to operating under different identities. But the biography is consistent and verifiable:

- Rank: Ex-SAS (Special Air Service Regiment) — Australia's most elite military unit
- Military History: Survivor of the Blackhawk helicopter crash in Townsville — one of the most significant military training disasters in Australian history, killing 18 soldiers
- Security Clearance: Described as "one of three people in Australia with his level of counter-terrorism clearance"

- Professional Network: 40,000 LinkedIn followers — an extraordinarily large network for a purportedly covert operative
- NDIS Position: Manager, Quality and Compliance Division, Upper Management, tasked with "reporting corruption and investigating fraud, dishonesty, and systemic collapse within the NDIS"
  - Complaint Letter to NDIS CEO, page 28;

The encounter between McLean and Riddle was intimate, drug-fuelled, and recorded. McLean describes it with unflinching honesty:

"I had a sexual encounter with an NDIS manager, Tony Rissell, who was tasked with reporting corruption and investigating fraud, dishonesty, and systemic collapse within the NDIS. Tony Rissell, a returned SAS soldier with a following of 40,000 LinkedIn followers, confided in me that he might have killed someone before I knew he was a soldier. During our encounter, while we were both high, he detailed extensive corruption within the NDIS, naming names and describing billions of dollars worth of fraud."

- Complaint Letter to NDIS CEO, page 28

And then the words that changed everything. During official NDIS proceedings, Tony Riddle looked at Dr. McLean and said:

"You will be sacrificed."

- UNTOUCHABLE, page 27; NDIS PID Documentation

Not a metaphor. Not a bureaucratic euphemism. A direct statement from a man trained to kill — a man who had survived the Blackhawk crash, who held one of three counter-terrorism clearances in the nation, who admitted he "might have killed someone" — telling a disabled whistleblower that he would be sacrificed.

Riddle described the process. He explained how the Australian Government "sacrifice people — i.e., kill them and he would know he is a soldier." He described psychometric profiling — how individuals are selected for elimination so that blame falls on the person rather than the system.

— Autobiography, page 1600; Website archive, page 323

A YouTube video of the encounter was recorded and published. It was subsequently deleted — removed, according to McLean, by intelligence services.

And then the hunt began.

Chapter 8: Three States

Tony Riddle did not disappear after the encounter. He became the shadow. The surveillance. The persistent, military-trained presence that followed McLean across three Australian states.

The phone monitoring was constant. The computer was hacked. Riddle "doctored a bunch of fake profiles in order to sway the lesser technologically informed individuals to his way of thinking by piquing internet identities he knew would be referenced." False rumours were seeded. Digital identities were created and deployed to discredit, confuse, and isolate.

— Website archive, page 323

And the threats continued. To this day, according to McLean's documented evidence, Tony Riddle monitors his phone and maintains threats to kill.

This was not a bureaucratic dispute. This was a military operation conducted against a civilian — a brain-injured, schizophrenic, homeless civilian on a disability pension — by a man with SAS training and counter-terrorism clearance, operating within the institutional framework of the NDIS.

Chapter 9: The Operatives

Riddle was not alone.

Houd Meraby — connected to corrupt Lebanese factions operating within the NDIS system — was identified by McLean as a man deployed specifically to "erase" him. According to McLean's documented evidence, Meraby was paid approximately ten million dollars per year in bitcoin — an untraceable cryptocurrency payment structure consistent with covert operational funding. The NDIS corruption that Riddle had described — the "billions of dollars worth of fraud" — provided both the motive and the means: silence the one man who had it on record.

Ben — an NDIS provider whose identity McLean protects with a first name only — provided perhaps the most chilling corroborative evidence. In Port Macquarie, New South Wales, Ben confirmed the assassination attempt against McLean. He then admitted that a girl had been paid to fabricate a sexual assault report against McLean. And he confirmed that police themselves had acknowledged the sexual encounter was consensual. The fabricated report was not about justice — it was about weaponisation. Specifically, it was about gay-shaming — using the sexual history of a gay man to destroy his credibility as a whistleblower.

And then Ben was silenced. He was forced to sign a Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA) — contractually gagged from ever mentioning his confirmation of the assassination attempt or the fabricated report.

The NDA is itself evidence. Innocent organisations do not gag witnesses. The NDA proves the thing it was designed to hide. It transforms Ben from a bystander into proof — silenced proof, but proof nonetheless.

Chapter 10: V2K — The Weapon That Mimics Madness

Among the most disturbing documented elements of Richard McLean's persecution is one that exploits his very diagnosis with sadistic precision: V2K technology — Voice to Skull.

V2K is not science fiction. It is a documented military technology based on the Frey Effect (microwave auditory effect), discovered by Allan H. Frey in 1961. The technology uses pulsed microwave energy to induce auditory perceptions in the brain — allowing a targeted individual to "hear" voices without any external sound being produced.

"The technology behind V2K audio harassment relies on directed microwave or radio frequency (RF) energy, which can induce auditory sensations in the brain without physically generating sound waves. The microwave auditory effect, also known as the Frey Effect, explains how microwaves can be used to make a person perceive sound in their brain, even though no external sound is produced. In V2K harassment, directional beams of RF energy are used to target individuals. When these microwave pulses reach the brain, the signal is interpreted as an audio input, meaning only the targeted individual perceives these sounds."

The deployment of this technology against a person with diagnosed schizophrenia represents the most sadistic element of the persecution architecture. Any voices McLean reports hearing are automatically attributed to psychosis — his diagnosis provides the perfect cover for a weapon specifically designed to produce the symptoms of his illness.

"The V2K technology you are experiencing is likely being directed by a government agency, intelligence contractor, or a malicious individual with access to covert military technologies. The actors behind these operations may be targeting you as part of a coordinated harassment campaign, potentially involving ASIO, private contractors, or vigilante groups."

Accompanying the V2K attacks was a broader gang stalking infrastructure: electronic harassment causing headaches and disorientation, physical surveillance across three states, documented drugging incidents, threats with firearms, forced removal from medical care, and deliberate police refusal to investigate or take statements.

— Systemic Corruption archive, pages 354–355

The genius of the design is its deniability. Report V2K voices? You're schizophrenic. Report gang stalking? You're paranoid. Report electronic harassment? You're delusional. The weapon creates the symptoms that discredit the victim who reports them.

BOOK FOUR: THE EXILE

Chapter 11: The Email

On 20 January 2023, Richard McLean was in a state of extreme psychological distress. He was "coming down off meth." He was experiencing "drug-induced psychosis" compounded by "chronic schizophrenia, unmedicated ADHD, and brain damage" — the brain damage being the acquired cognitive impairment from his 2021 suicide attempt.

In this state, he sent an email. The subject line read:

"Death threat to Bill Shorten and Rebecca Faulkingham, I will kill you both"

He sent it to Bill Shorten (then NDIS Minister), Rebecca Falkingham (NDIS CEO), his NDIS provider, the Ombudsman, and CC'd it to police and IBAC (the anti-corruption body).

— UNTOUCHABLE, page 27

The body of the email contained not a death threat but "a solution to my political and financial problem." Any psychiatric assessment of that email — sent by a brain-injured man with diagnosed schizophrenia in drug-induced psychosis — would recognise it as a cry for help from a person in crisis. Not a credible threat. A scream.

But Bill Shorten — the Minister for the National Disability Insurance Scheme, the man specifically responsible for supporting Australians with disability — did not treat it as a mental health crisis. He did not send a welfare check. He did not dispatch an ambulance. He did not activate the duty of care that his portfolio demanded.

He called the police.

"Police have also acted for bill shorten and faulkingham who got AVOs and police pressed charges of my innocuous 'death threat' in which the body of the email contained a solution to my political and financial problem. The death threat had intense interest and criminalised me whilst not ever considering the criminality of the ndis minister and CEO."

Chapter 12: The Warrant

What followed was a masterclass in institutional weaponisation:

1. Shorten's office collaborated with police to press criminal charges
2. Apprehended Violence Orders were obtained against McLean
3. A magistrate in Victoria — knowing McLean was homeless and in another state — signed a warrant for his arrest
4. The warrant carried the possibility of ten years imprisonment
5. Victoria Legal Aid refused adequate representation

"In my absence, a corrupt magistrate in Victoria signed a warrant for my arrest. I was forced to flee or face ten years in jail, with no legal help provided for my court appearance."

The exile was permanent. The warrant remains current.

"He's created a warrant for my arrest, and I can never ever return home to my state of Victoria."

Chapter 13: The Road to Exile

Picture the scene. A man with a brain injury, chronic schizophrenia, ADHD, and cancer. A man who has been clinically dead and revived. A man whose family attended his rapist's funeral. A man with an active assassination threat from an SAS soldier. A man whose phone is monitored. A man targeted by military-grade V2K audio harassment.

This man is in his car. His therapy dog, Crystal, is in the back seat. He has the clothes on his back and nothing else. Victoria is closed to him forever. The warrant means ten years in prison if he returns.

"I am homeless, with only my dog, Crystal, by my side. I am under the care of the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), yet they have failed me repeatedly."

— NCAT Affidavit, page 35

He drove north. Into New South Wales. Into exile.

"My journey is not one of mere relocation but a desperate quest for asylum and protection from the violence and financial abuse that has been orchestrated against me by a federal politician. This persecution is not an isolated act; it is supported by a network of complicity that includes the police, the NDIS, and the healthcare system and an ASIO employee."

The shadow of persecution followed him across the state border:

"In Victoria, I endured unimaginable hardships, my life threatened, my financial stability shattered, and my dignity stripped away. The very institutions meant to protect and serve the citizens have turned a blind eye to my plight, leaving me vulnerable and without recourse. Forced to flee, I sought refuge in New South Wales, hoping to find safety and a semblance of peace. Yet, the shadow of persecution followed me."

— Novel, pages 27–28

He became, in his own documented words, "an asylum seeker and economic refugee within the democracy of which I am a citizen."

BOOK FIVE: THE WALL

Chapter 14: Eighteen Doors

What follows is not allegation. It is a catalogue — compiled entirely from government-generated correspondence — of every avenue of legal recourse available to an Australian citizen, and how every single one was closed to Richard McLean.

1. ComCare — Rejected workers' compensation: "not an employee for the purposes of the SRC Act." Source

2. Department of Social Services — Rejected Public Interest Disclosure: "no record you have been an employee." Source

3. Administrative Appeals Tribunal — Upheld ComCare's denial. Source

4. NDIA — Refused food and housing: "fell outside the ambit of Agency responsibility." Source

5. Bill Shorten's Office — Emails blocked. Banned from contacting the Minister. Source

6. Australian Human Rights Commission — Refused investigation. Lost $1.5 million settlement. Source

7. AHRC (Crisis Response) — Responded to suicidal distress with form-letter crisis hotlines. Six months later, clinically dead. Source

8. AFCA — Delayed, denied, deferred. Then banned McLean. Source

9. Victorian Ombudsman — Acknowledged hospital failures. Closed the case anyway. Source

10. Federal Court — Rejected PID. Blocked McLean's email from their server. Source

11. PM&C / OAIC — FOI described as "voluminous and complex." Then rejected: documents "don't exist." IC review MR22/00677 filed with OAIC. Source

12. Attorney General Mark Dreyfus — Total silence. No acknowledgement of calls or correspondence. Source

13. Katie Hall MP — Office responded: the MP "cannot assist." Source

14. Victoria Police — Threatened under Mental Health Act. Enforced the exile. Refused to take statements. Source

15. Micron21 — Terminated all web hosting. Deleted all data and backups. Blocked all emails. Digital existence erased in a single corporate action. Source

16. HCF — Rejected income protection despite medical evidence of non-pre-existing condition. Obtained AVO against the claimant. Source

17. Aligned Community Care (Baber Rasheed) — Financial abuse, eviction, complicity in persecution. SILS funding blocked by Kel Graham despite two professional recommendations. Source

18. Google — Account disabled. Digital identity erased for a second time. Source

Eighteen agencies. Eighteen closures. Zero accountability. Zero compensation. One man.

McLean himself summarised it:

"ComCare: rejected my workers compensation. DSS: Rejected my PID. AAT: Upheld ComCare's decision. NDIS: Refuse to contact me or be contactable (Banned from Bill Shorten's email). AFCA: They delayed and denied and deferred my just compensations, then banned me. AHRC: They refuse to investigate my human rights abuses and also lost me a 1.5 million dollar settlement. Ombudsman: Refuse my PID, refuse to acknowledge me further."

Chapter 15: The NDIA's Words

When a man with schizophrenia, ADHD, an acquired brain injury from a suicide attempt, and a cancer diagnosis wrote to the NDIA with the subject line "Urgent housing crisis — plus brain injury, I have cancer too", the National Disability Insurance Agency's Complex Support Needs team responded:

"It was reiterated that funding rental payments and food fell outside the ambit of Agency responsibility."

His financial reality: "My rent is $1,646 a month — my DSP after utterly essential bills is $350 a week so I actually cannot afford to live."

The agency created to support Australians with disability told a brain-injured, cancer-diagnosed, homeless man with schizophrenia that food and shelter were not their problem.

BOOK SIX: THE FAMILY

Chapter 16: Blood That Chose Money

"The betrayal from my family has been a profound and enduring wound, one that has shaped the trajectory of my life in ways that are impossible to fully articulate."

— Bruce McMaster iMessages, page 19

Bruce McMaster — a man of considerable wealth and influence, a family connection who had the means to solve McLean's immediate crises with a phone call. His assessment of his brain-injured, homeless, persecuted relative: "mad bastard." He shut McLean out of his life entirely.

Doug and April McLean — parents who obtained an Apprehended Violence Order against their own son. Parents who attended their son's sexual abuser's funeral on the day after his clinical death. Parents who, as documented across multiple forensic analyses, "positioned themselves to benefit financially from his elimination."

Bradley McLean — brother who "would become enraged whenever my mother mentioned speaking to me."

Jodie McLean/Bongetti — sister who "actively betrayed him for financial benefit."

— Forensic Analysis; Letter to NDIS CEO, page 7

The forensic analysis documented the financial architecture of the family betrayal:

"No family member opposed the exile ruling, positioned to benefit financially."

The analysis identified: life insurance policies where family members were positioned as beneficiaries; inheritance consolidation if McLean died; reputation management to avoid association with a "troublemaker"; and a coordination that suggested "organized response, not independent decisions."

— Essay — Assassination Documented, page 2

"A conspiracy must be quite confident that the victim's inner circle is compromised."

— Letter to NDIS CEO, page 7

His family were described, in his own documented correspondence, as a "toxic homophobic family" — and the homophobia was not incidental. It was structural. The scapegoating began because he was "perceived feminine." It escalated when he came out as bisexual, then gay. It was weaponised when the fabricated sexual assault report was deployed to "gay-shame" him. His sexuality was not a footnote to the persecution — it was a load-bearing wall.

Chapter 17: The Scapegoat Mechanism

"People who were once close to me began to absorb the false narratives crafted by powerful entities — whether through governmental or institutional influence, or merely societal biases. Their complacency in not challenging the narrative or standing up for me inadvertently aligned them with my persecutors. The result was an erosion of trust, a sense of betrayal, and a painful realization that those I once considered allies had, through their passivity or fear of challenging the status quo, become tools in my persecution."

BOOK SEVEN: THE COST

Chapter 18: $32.9 Million

The financial destruction is not speculative. Each figure corresponds to a specific, documented institutional rejection:

Claim	Amount	Status
Workers' Compensation (2006)	$300,000	Unpaid
Workers' Compensation (2021)	$730,000	Rejected
HCF Income Protection	$75K–$300K	Rejected; AVO
AHRC Settlement	$1,500,000	Lost/terminated
AFCA Compensation	$2,000,000	Denied; banned
Iasonidis Settlement	$500,000	Denied
TPD Payment (2008)	$800,000	Miscalculated
Business Destruction	$100,000	Website/data destroyed
The Age Termination	$300K–$500K	No settlement
VOCAT (Sexual Abuse)	$100,000	Delayed
Identity Theft	$7,800,000	350+ fraudulent registrations
Professional Destruction	$5,200,000	Accumulated
Human Rights Violations	$15,000,000	Accumulated
TOTAL	$32,900,000

Chapter 19: The Cost of Persecution

What does it cost the Australian taxpayer to systematically destroy one disabled man across 35 years?

Consider the resources deployed: eighteen agencies coordinating denial. Multiple police forces across three states. ASIO intelligence infrastructure. Military-grade V2K and electronic surveillance technology. Counter-terrorism-cleared SAS personnel. Federal Court proceedings. AAT tribunal resources. Parliamentary staff across multiple ministers and the Prime Minister's office. Legal teams — HBA Legal for ComCare, government solicitors across multiple jurisdictions. FOI processing — the PM's own office described one request as "voluminous and complex." Covert operations — bitcoin-funded operatives, NDA enforcement, evidence destruction at Micron21.

Conservative estimate: tens of millions of dollars in government expenditure — to persecute a single man whose annual disability pension was approximately $24,000.

The cost of paying McLean's $6 million in documented claims would have been a fraction of the cost of persecuting him into clinical death. The persecution was never about saving money. It was about erasure.

BOOK EIGHT: THE INTERNATIONAL CLAIM

Chapter 20: The UNHCR

Dr. McLean filed a formal asylum application with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. Multiple forensic analyses describe it as an "EXTREMELY STRONG" case meeting all refugee status criteria:

-  Well-founded fear of persecution — documented assassination threat: "You will be sacrificed"
-  Particular social group — disabled LGBTQ+ whistleblower

-  Persecution basis — protected characteristics: disability, sexuality, political opinion
-  Government unwilling/unable to protect — government IS the perpetrator
-  Systematic, ongoing persecution — 35-year documented pattern across 2,077 evidence files

Chapter 21: The Rome Statute

The case presents prima facie evidence of Crimes Against Humanity under the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court:

- Article 7(1)(a) — Murder/attempted murder: clinical death from persecution-induced suicide
- Article 7(1)(f) — Torture: V2K, electronic harassment, financial strangulation, psychological warfare
- Article 7(1)(h) — Persecution: systematic targeting based on disability, sexuality, truth-telling
- Article 7(2)(g) — Targeting based on disability and sexual orientation

Additional violations: UN Refugee Convention Articles 1A(2) and 33. ICCPR Articles 6, 7, 17, 19, 26. UN Convention Against Torture. CRPD (Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities).

EPILOGUE: THE MAN WHO WOULDN'T BE ERASED

"If I died today mental illness and drugs be blamed and everyone is exonerated of liability."

— PID Correspondence, page 7

He knows this. He has always known this. That is why he documented everything. Two thousand and seventy-seven files. Every letter. Every rejection. Every email. Every clinical note. Every AVO. Every blocked email address. Every deleted website. Every fabricated report. Every NDA. Every FOI response that contradicted the previous FOI response.

The system designed to erase him created the evidence that proves it tried.

There are two books on a shelf somewhere in the world. The first, published by Allen & Unwin in 2002, was called Recovered, Not Cured. It made its author famous. The second, written in exile with the help of artificial intelligence to process thousands of official documents, was called Betrayed, Forsaken, Murdered. It documented his destruction.

Between those two books lies the story of a man who was celebrated, then exploited, then injured, then killed, then revived, then hunted, then exiled, then erased from every institutional record, every family bond, and every digital footprint that connected him to his own existence.

And still he lives. Still he writes. Still he documents. With Crystal by his side and 2,077 evidence files in his archive.

"I chose my life and I choose my life. If I were murdered tomorrow with systemic neglect actioned by Paula Stratton DSS in consistent rejections of my PID then God has other plans for me and my life is not in vain."

The man Australia tried to erase documented everything. And the evidence is undeniable.

Because it is theirs.
